"Torque" describes a twist. The bigger the torque, the harder the twist. Cars move by the engine twisting or torquing the wheels so that they push against the ground. The bigger the torque, the harder this push and thus the greater the potential acceleration.